The solutions are analogous to the $\text{Pr} = 3/4$ solution discovered by Becker and analytically capture the profile of shock fronts in ideal gases. The large- Pr solution is very similar to Becker's solution, differing only by a scale factor.

Analytical shock solutions at large and small Prandtl ...

The results reveal inadequacies in previous vortex scattering theories when the circulation of the vortex is non-zero and refraction by the slowly decaying vortex flow field is important. Approximate analytical solutions that account for the refraction effect are developed and found to be in good agreement with the computations and experiments.
